MoSCORES Tip Sheet

What is MoSCORES?

MoSCORES is a powerful tool that allows students to search college degrees and certificates while also looking at how much it will cost, the types of students who are taking the program, if they graduated, if they were able to find a job, and how much money they are earning. The tool can also compare one degree program with another – both traditional credit hour programs as well as short term certificate programs earning industry recognized credentials. Note: You don't have to have a log-in to use it.

The screenshot shows the MoSCORES website interface. At the top, the MoSCORES logo is displayed in white on a dark blue background. Below the logo, a navigation bar shows the path: > Job.Mo.Gov > Training and Education > Search. The main heading is "Education and Training Program Search". There are three main sections for search criteria:

- General Search: Includes a text input for "School/Program" and three dropdown menus for "Degree/Credential Type", "Field of Study", and "School". A note says "Narrow your search by program title, school name, location, and more."
- Search by Location: Includes a "Location (Zip Code)" input, a "County" dropdown, and a "Search by Location" section with "within" and "miles of my location" inputs, and a "Region" dropdown.
- Filter By: Includes a "Filter By" section with a "Occupation Group of Study" dropdown and four checkboxes: "WIOA approved only", "Offered online only", "Transfer degree programs", and "Apprenticeship programs".

At the bottom, there are three buttons: "Search" (blue), "Clear All" (grey), and "Cancel" (grey).

- Once the student enters information into the search options, a list of degree programs and schools will be narrowed down based on the information provided.
- From there, students can compare different programs, schools, distances to their hometown, and tuition costs.
